

Expanding Your Home Based Cleaning Business.

Offering more diverse services in your home based cleaning business can increase your income potential for each job.

For Immediate Release

By Mark Hoochuk

Philadelphia March 8, 2010

Starting a home based cleaning business has worked well for many Americans looking for alternative sources of income. Thinking outside the box has allowed many owners expand their services into niche areas to allow for more opportunity to capitalize on each job. One such service that show tremendous promise is professional BBQ grill cleaning. An overlooked niche, BBQ grill cleaning service has a huge demand with hardly any providers. This makes for a perfect addition to many existing home based small businesses.

Landscapers, window cleaners, lawn care providers and similar type home based service providers often stick to a basic set of services without exploring other potential money making opportunities that sit right under their noses. Research has shown that most households have a BBQ grill and use it often. It also shows a market exists for professional grill cleaning services. Cleaning a BBQ grill can be a long and hard experience for most owners. The results achieved are often far short of what a professional cleaning would produce. Having a professional BBQ cleaning system in your arsenal can lead to huge income.

One company is offering a complete system to quickly add this service to an existing small home based business. BBQcleaner.com offers a proven professional grill cleaning system from a top UK company called Ovenu. BBQcleaner.com has done over two years of research and market testing on the income earning potential of a BBQ grill cleaning system. That hard work has paid off in revealing a hidden trove of client demand. "We have had part time numbers over $70,000 per year" say's BBQ Cleaner operations director Jeff Krentzman. Clients report total satisfaction with the service results and many owners enjoy a growing return business base after initial cleaning.

With a relatively small investment BBQ.cleaner.com provides all the equipment and branded material to add the service to an existing home based business or as a stand alone small business start up. Unlike other branded services the BBQ Cleaner system is not a franchise business opportunity. Individual owners can run the business as they wish without franchise regulation. With all the positives offered with this system home based business owners would do well to find out more about this creative opportunity.

Headquartered in Hackensack, in Bergen County, NJ, The BBQ Cleaner offers a proven business opportunity to clean and restore barbeque grills. More information can be found at the website: <http://www.thebbqcleaner.com>

Media Contact

Ed Samide.

215-772-2163