New BBQ Cleaning Business Is Really Heating Up

Joe Padilla, authorized technician for The BBQ Cleaner, is seeing sales sizzle

Phoenix, Arizona November 3, 2009 – Joe Padilla was looking for a career change and he was committed to starting his own unique business when he discovered The BBQ Cleaner, the proprietary system to clean and rejuvenate BBQ grills. Since starting in June 2009, Joe’s business has been heating up.

“With the growing popularity of barbeque grills and year round grilling, The BBQ Cleaner system provided the perfect business opportunity that I could own and manage according to my own schedule” said Padilla.

Joe has been consistently busy and is receiving many customer refererrals. In fact, Joe’s success has come through his many satisfied customers. Gary Bohling, of Phoenix, Arizona said, “Joe did an exceptional job on my gas grill, which was used all summer long. I used to clean the grill myself, but after hiring Joe, who brought all the right materials necessary and the expertise behind cleaning it the proper way, I’d never go back to my self cleaning method. I recommend this service to others, especially if you’re an avid griller like myself.”

Customer Joe Blanchette added “I almost hate to cook on it; it’s so nice and clean!”

Joe Padilla is one of the first success stories, but anyone can become an authorized The BBQ Cleaner technician. Easy to set up and operate, The BBQ Cleaner system includes the tools, training, supplies and knowledge necessary to starting a business and offers great earnings potential at a low investment.

Plus, owners receive everything they need to get started - including a patent pending cleaning system, a step-by-step Operations and Startup Guide, cleaning supplies and customized marketing materials, which are delivered right to their door.

In addition to Joe Padilla in Phoenix, The BBQ Cleaner currently has two business owners operating in New Jersey. The company is also expanding to San Jose, California and St. Louis, Missouri in the next three months with new business owners in those areas.

The BBQ Cleaner is looking for motivated individuals who are not afraid of hard work and want to seize upon this niche market opportunity. Those interested should contact Jeff Krenztnan, Director of Operations, at 201-546-4010 or visit www.TheBBQCleaner.com.
